

Guiding growth in the education sector

2020 brought a new perspective in the way we understand the world and the challenges in each sector.

We were formerly known as The UPD Tech Group. At the end of 2020 - as defying a year as most of us have had in some time - UPD Consulting decided to spin off its Technology Group. We deliver data-driven resilience so organizations can adapt to complexity, grow and be ready to impact society's evolving needs.

We are Crocus, a tech firm focused on organizations as living systems to drive social impact in the education sector.

We are in the process of building our website, if you want to reach out to us, email to hello@crocusllc.com or our individual emails are FirstInitialLastName@crocusllc.com (our @updconsulting.com email addresses will forward it to our crocus email during this transition)

UPD Consulting will continue to provide the excellent management consulting services to which its clients are accustomed, visit them at www.updconsulting.com.

Welcome to Crocus!